My Decade of D!CKS—A Love Story comes to Denver

Las Vegas-based writer/performer Dorothea Deley returns to Denver with her latest solo show, “My Decade of D!CKS: A Love Story,” Sept. 27 at 7 p.m. at RISE Comedy.

Deley takes audiences on an emotional ride through her train-wreck relationships with Mr. Bible Study, Mr. Premature, Mr. Chlamydia and many more. (Names changed to protect the not-so-innocent.)

During her show, audience members call out the red flags Deley missed with her exes, like the time ...

- Guy jumped up mid-coitus screaming God spoke to him—thru the hair dryer;
- Guy made love only at his place—in his childhood twin bed; and
- Guy’s big move involved spelling out the alphabet—with his tongue.

“I love seeing people wave their red flags at me when I’m onstage,” Deley says. “My stories hit home. Our hypermasculine culture traumatizes all of us—no matter our gender. Laughter goes a long way in helping us heal.”

Her show delivers more than dick jokes, though. It’s got heart and soul.

“I laughed and I cried, sometimes simultaneously,” said audience member Bella Garris.

Tickets $16 in advance/ $19 at door. Sept. 27 at 7 p.m. at RISE Comedy in LoDo. Adult content/18+. Info and show trailer at DorotheaDeley.com/show
